

SPIRITUALISM – WHY SO DANGEROUS?!

Spiritualism is defined as communication with the dead. Modern Spiritualism began in 1848 near Rochester, N.Y. with the Fox sisters who received mysterious rapping from the beyond. The three girls went on to fame giving small to large audiences an experience into the supernatural that would make the hair stand up on your neck.

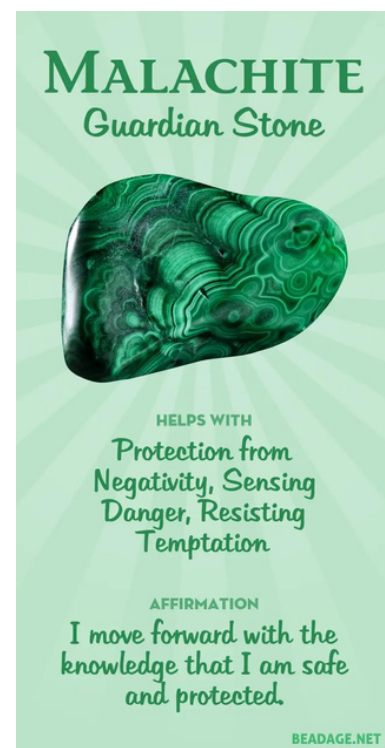

Spiritualism swept through the United States in the late 1800's, so much so that even Presidents were purported to participate in seances. In this report we are taking the liberty of defining spiritualism as when anything beyond what is considered "natural" expresses itself as a special power or knowledge. This may be through an individual such as a medium or through an object such as a crystal.

There are many versions of special power or knowledge. For $74.90, you can get this little beauty to "protect" your home! Can a man made object protect us? What about believing horoscopes? Does someone sitting at home on the weekend writing horoscopes to publish during the week have the power to correctly foretell your future?

Currently, a popular form of spiritualism is rocks! My wife took this photo at a rock and gem show. In years past maybe one table had rocks with special abilities, now many tables have these because people LITERALLY believe rocks have the ability to "help with business deals, protect during air travel, and useful in helping you win at what you do."

Back to the concept of the dead speaking to us. This idea begins with the mistaken notion that humankind is immortal by nature, so that after death we automatically live on and can therefore have access to living people and dialogue with them.

This lie was first introduced 6,000 years ago in the Garden of Eden when the fruit eating snake spoke to Eve and assured her that breaking God's law and eating the fruit would perpetuate her life. Not only that but after one bite she could look forward to knowing secret or hidden knowledge. This two-fold lie carried with it death for Adam and Eve and the entire human race. We are all mortal by nature. So guess who is NOT in heaven at the moment eagerly waiting to communicate with us. Adam and Eve, Noah, Apostle Paul, George Washington, your grandpa or poor little Johnny. It's all a lie. God alone is immortal by nature. (1 Timothy 6:16)

So if the dead don't communicate to us, then where are the tarot card and palm readers getting their "secret" information? Who or what is behind all of this subterfuge and confusion? Some are straight up fakes. Many truly do believe they are being led, but the real answer is a fallen group of angels exiled and living invisibly here on Earth headed by Satan himself. There was a war in heaven and it is now taking place on earth. (Rev. 12:7-9)

The types of vehicles or methods of spiritualism is far reaching - extending its seducing tendrils into more areas of life than you could imagine. Here's a list of additional spiritualistic items and philosophies you may be shocked to discover contain this idea of power.

- Witchcraft
- Tarot cards
- Ouija boards
- Crystals
- Law of Attraction
- Psychic readings
- Voodoo dolls
- Pantheism
- Channeling a spirit
- Natural immortality of the soul
- Fortune telling
- Ghosts

True story. Years ago my sister went to a channeler twice and as he rocked back and forth in a trance thanking the spirits he then went on to give my sister advice to help guide her life. She went home and inside her child's room were several items from our deceased grandmother. Suddenly she felt a presence, the spirit of Nana she thought? It scared her and she left the room immediately.

The problem with spiritualism is it can open a door to a realm that you don't completely understand that's why we're commanded to "do not believe every spirit, but test the spirits, whether they are of God; because many false prophets have gone out into the world." (1 John 4:1)

These things can consume our time, attention and fill that spiritual hollow spot meant for God. On the surface a Ouija board appears to be harmless entertainment. I remember as a kid disappointed we could not get it to move or communicate some special message for us, but that is not the case with some people who have experienced it move about uncontrollably.

Tarot cards seem to making a comeback on TikTok. People are giving mass readings during Live Streams and for a fee conducting private readings. People are clamoring to know something more about their life, what to do or what lies ahead. Spiritualism is like alcohol. As the intoxicating brew runs its course, over time it destroys insidiously little by little our identity and ability to properly evaluate truth from error.

My advice is this. Shun all forms of spiritualism. Box it up and toss it out. If you want to see into the future there are courses on Biblical prophecy that will give you the real deal. If you are looking for a power greater than yourself, look to God through the Bible - not the Egyptian book of the dead or self help Zen Buddhism claiming there's some kind of innate sleeping giant within you. Behind these fascinating and seemingly innocent ideas such as the Law of Attraction, for example, are people who believe they are channeling a group of spirits who call themselves Abraham. Is that safe? Should I trust a person like that? If there really is a spiritual war taking place on this earth and you have unseen enemies that can masquerade as "an angel of light," (2 Cor. 11:14) how will you know if you're being led astray? Only the Bible can make clear whether these concepts are true.
